

Remuneration market stance

Not-for-profit organisations were surveyed regarding their targeted market stance for remuneration. Paying at median level seems to be the most popular market stance at all staff levels, with over 50% of participating organisations indicating they use a median approach for both management and general staff levels.

Figure 1.7 illustrates the market stance organisations apply to management and general staff.

