The face of expatriation is changing. An increasingly globalised environment has blurred international boundaries. Businesses now must deal with increasingly complex issues, such as managing a new generation of professionals who are more open to the world, finding ways of reducing costs in the face of strong competition, and developing a more flexible and optimised international mobility policy.

International assignees present special strategic, compensation, and benefits issues. The HR strategy for your globally mobile workforce needs to:

• Support your corporate global business objectives and broader HR strategies.
• Attract and retain the right global pool of talent.
• Provide effective remuneration for international assignees.
• Optimise expatriates’ job performance.

It has become vital for companies to continuously re-evaluate and evolve their approach to global mobility. With results on hand from our worldwide surveys and expertise from across the globe, Mercer can help you with all of these needs. Mercer’s robust mobility solutions can help you successfully manage globally mobile employees — from your initial strategy to handling compensation, talent, benefits, and pension issues, and all the way through to repatriation.

Mercer has developed a variety of precise online and offline tools that can help you perform calculations, generate reports, gather reference information, and manage all aspects of expatriate administration. Utilising methods that are transparent, globally consistent, and financially sound, Mercer will enable you to design and implement equitable expatriate compensation packages. Furthermore, Mercer’s expatriate consulting services and reliable, up-to-date benchmarking data can help you manage your human resources globally and assist in guiding your remuneration policies to ensure your organisation’s competitiveness in the marketplace.

Mercer offers a full spectrum of global mobility services and products across six continents. We have offices in 40+ countries and territories and more than 25,000 clients worldwide — making us the only expatriate management experts with a truly global footprint. We can help you make better, more strategic decisions on how to optimise your human capital. We are the only consulting firm offering clients cross-functional international mobility expertise in fields such as HR strategy, talent management, international mobility policies, expatriate compensation, mobility organisation and operational management processes, and international retirement.

This booklet outlines our key global mobility solutions. Visit m.imercer.com/mobility for additional information.

BUILDING EXPATRIATE PACKAGES

BALANCE SHEET

Our Balance Sheet approach retains the expatriate in the home-country salary structure and provides allowances to enable the expatriate to maintain a standard of living broadly similar to that enjoyed at home. Balance Sheet worksheets show all components of an individual expatriate compensation package—base salary, differentials, taxes, premiums, and allowances.

The goal of the Balance Sheet comparison is to establish a host-country salary that preserves an individual’s home-country standard of living. Due to the often significant differences in tax rates, social security contributions, housing costs, and general cost of living between countries, a simple exchange-rate conversion of gross salary would be meaningless. Therefore, under the Balance Sheet system, the expatriate’s net pay in the home location is adjusted for any cost-of-living difference in the host location, and then grossed up for the host-country taxes and housing costs.

COST-OF-LIVING ALLOWANCES

To encourage mobility and to manage your international assignment costs, you need precise information to calculate fair, consistent expatriate compensation packages. Mercer’s semiannual cost-of-living surveys are conducted by professional researchers in over 400 locations. Carefully chosen vendors reflect only those outlets where your expatriates can buy goods and services of international quality.

THE BENEFIT OF TWO APPROACHES

Finding the best way to address the cost-of-living issue is a challenge when managing a modern global workforce that originates in, and is assigned to, a diverse array of locations. To help you find the optimal solution, Mercer offers two distinct ways to compare costs.

MULTINATIONAL APPROACH

The Mercer Multinational Cost-of-Living approach develops cost-of-living indices and differentials based on a blended international spending pattern, which assumes expatriates of many different nationalities spend similarly. With weighting of goods and services the same for all locations, this approach compares prices of similar brands and from similar retail outlets in both the home city and host city. Based on this approach, Mercer’s Cost-of-Living Reports for each location include:

- City-to-city index comparison.
- Home country/international spendable income.
- Home country housing norms.
- Expatriate accommodation costs.
- International education costs.
- Business travel expenses.
- Actual item price lists.
- List of stores surveyed.

NATIONALITY-SPECIFIC APPROACH

The Mercer Nationality-specific Cost-of-Living approach develops cost-of-living indices and differentials based on the unique spending patterns in a base country — usually the home or headquarters country.

Using different weights for each home country ensures that expatriates can maintain their expenditure patterns in their host locations. This compares prices in the home country from a local-national perspective to prices in the host location from an expatriate perspective.

Mercer can help you decide which approach works best for both your company and your expatriates.

HOME SPENDABLE INCOME

Spendable Income Tables report the typical amount an employee spends on goods and services in his/her home country. Used in conjunction with our Cost-of-Living indices, the tables support you in determining appropriate cost-of-living allowances. These reality-based Spendable Income Tables are based on national statistics for major countries. The tables are broken down by income level and family size, from single employees to couples with up to four children.
MERCER MOBILIZE HOUSING SOLUTION™

EXPATRIATE HOUSING WITH A PERFECT VIEW

Mercer Mobilize Housing Solution is the most advanced expatriate housing tool for better-informed, more-defensible housing allowance decisions.

Mercer Mobilize Housing Solution builds on decades of expertise in expatriate housing. Our extensive, accurate, and transparent data for over 400 cities is now delivered in a revolutionary new platform.

- Interactive Mapping Technology: Visualise where expatriate neighbourhoods and schools are in relation to your company’s office (which can be mapped). See street-level photos and neighbourhood information.

- Flexible Data: Mobility managers can easily configure data by a variety of factors, such as including/excluding specific neighbourhoods so that the housing data reflects their needs. For example, choose only the neighbourhoods close to the company office, where the company’s expatriates tend to reside.

- Sample Real Listings: We post actual rentals listed at the time of our surveys, with details and photos, to provide a realistic sense of what can be expected for various budget ranges at particular locations.

- Reverse Lookup: See what sort of housing a certain rental amount will buy in a given neighbourhood. This feature will help you to both set expectations and frame the discussion around exception requests.

- Varied Reporting Formats: Our intuitive user interface allows output of various levels of detail and different formats, making it easy to share information in a format customised for each stakeholder, from senior management to the assignee.

HOME COUNTRY HOUSING NORMS TABLES

Mercer’s Home Country Housing Norms Table enables companies to assess expatriate housing cost differentials between a home and a host location. We analyse data based on the latest national statistics on family expenditure patterns in each country covered. These tables provide the average combined expenditures for shelter and utilities by salary level and distinguish between single and family households.

INTERNATIONAL EDUCATION INFORMATION

Mercer provides current information for international schools, including American, English, French, German, Italian, Japanese, and Scandinavian.
QUALITY-OF-LIVING / HARDSHIP ALLOWANCES

Factors such as climate, disease and sanitation standards, ease of communications, and physical remoteness can often affect the success of a foreign assignment. Moreover, the local political and social environment, political violence, and crime may give rise to potentially uncomfortable, inconvenient, or even dangerous situations. To encourage mobility, reliable information is needed to help calculate fair, consistent financial incentives for hardship locations.

THE BENEFIT OF TWO APPROACHES

Mercer offers two ways to compensate mobile employees fairly for going to a host site with a lower quality of living than that in their home location. QOL recommends a point-to-point comparison assignment premium in order to recognise differences in home and host conditions. LER assesses living conditions against generally accepted standards, providing a single premium recommendation for all assignees to a location.

QUALITY-OF-LIVING (QOL) REPORTS

QOL Reports help determine competitive hardship allowances based on quality-of-living differences between the assignee’s home and host locations for transfers among over 350 locations worldwide. The Quality-of-Living Index Calculator provides a final quality-of-living index and recommended allowance, as well as a detailed breakdown of all the elements taken into account. The index for a given host city varies with the assignee’s home location.

LOCATION EVALUATION REPORTS (LER)

Prepared in partnership with global risk consultancy Control Risks, these analytical reports assess over 130 locations worldwide on 14 factors that make up daily life for expatriates and their families. LER reports provide a recommendation that is independent of a home location and maintains an equitable approach because the premium can be applied across an entire expatriate population.

On request, we can prepare custom reports and reports for nonstandard locations. Mercer’s global mobility specialists are available to advise you with further information on Location Evaluation Reports and Quality-of-Living Reports.

PERSONAL INCOME TAX

Mercer’s new Personal Income Tax Solution makes your planning process easier by providing immediate access to all the information you need to successfully calculate the tax and social security portion of an international assignment package.

PERSONAL INCOME TAX REPORTS

The Personal Tax Reports are authoritative guides on tax requirements and social charges. Each report explains how the local tax system is built and the implications for both local executives and expatriates. They summarise the individual’s liability for tax and social security.

PERSONAL INCOME TAX CALCULATOR

The Personal Income Tax Calculator is a powerful tool that will help you measure the real value of your employee’s compensation, showing the exact difference made by taxes. The calculator allows you to determine gross-to-net and net-to-gross compensation to show how much of the salary will be left over after taxes.

The Personal Income Tax Solution is a cost-effective, multifunctional product that includes full reports on personal income tax and a powerful calculator. Over 140 locations, including regions and states, are available on a global entitlement or one-off basis.

LOCALISATION AND LOCAL PLUS

Many companies have embraced localised, or host-based, pay in order to meet their global staffing needs. Local Plus assignments and localisation can provide significant cost savings, but they must be applied with care. Mercer’s expertise and extensive compensation data on international assignments and local salaries lets us help you build effective policies and provide equitable compensation packages.

SET YOUR POLICY

Local Plus requires the balance of a systematic approach and flexibility. Mercer works with our clients to develop policies that find this balance, informed by our experience working with the largest multinationals on their programmes and by decades of research into assignment policies and the latest trends in alternative assignment practices. Talk to us about your policy development and benchmarking needs.

COMPENSATION LOCALIZER

MERCER’S LOCAL PLUS CALCULATOR

Our easy-to-use Local Plus calculator includes local salary data from our International Position Evaluation (IPE) database, and allows you to easily calculate a new offer or compare your proposed package to an employee’s current compensation, suggesting what “plusses” might be necessary for Local Plus, and for how long.

Use the tool to quantify the economic impact whenever you are putting an employee on a host-based compensation package for:

- Local Plus packages (where it is a feasible alternative to a traditional expat package).
- Localisation (transitioning expatriates to host-based pay).
- One-way indefinite international transfers.
- Locally or directly hired foreigners.

With Compensation Localizer, you can do all this in as little as ten minutes. So you can let go of any complicated spreadsheets you might be using and stick to our transparent, easy-to-read report.

SHORT-TERM ASSIGNMENT ALLOWANCES

Short-term assignments provide companies with a valuable solution for the transfer of skills, know-how, and resources. Companies are competing in a global world with changes in technology, travel, and communication networks, and issues like dual career and family concerns make short-term assignments more attractive.

Short-term assignments present new challenges. Employees on short-term assignments are usually not accompanied by their family, therefore their living costs are different and they cannot be compensated as they would be for long-term assignments. On the other hand, short-term assignments last longer than business trips and require expenses of a wider nature, such as personal care products, laundry, and entertainment.

SHORT-TERM ASSIGNMENT ALLOWANCE TABLES

Mercer provides Short-term Assignment Allowance Tables by host city, allowing your company to grant a daily allowance fairly and consistently. The tables are available for over 300 cities covered by our worldwide cost-of-living reports, and are updated twice a year.

imercer.com/STA

SHORT-TERM PER DIEMS

Mercer Short-term Assignment Per Diem Calculator provides an appropriate, consistent, and cost-effective means of compensating employees for day-to-day living costs in the short-term assignment location. It offers three standard levels of per diems, letting you choose the allowance based on your company’s budget and spending assumptions.

The Short-term Assignment Per Diem Calculator recommendations are:

• Accurate, based on long-standing Mercer methodology.
• Transparent, with recommendations broken down in detail.
• Up-to-date, with data collected twice a year and more frequently in locations with volatile prices.
• Easily customised, allowing for differentiation depending on type of assignment and other factors.
• Specific to multinational companies, and based on spending patterns of actual business-oriented assignees like yours, including the provision of self-catering facilities.

As a result, the web-based Short-term Assignment Per Diem Calculator is a cost-effective and appropriate solution for determining short-term per diems for over 370 locations and can be a more consistent alternative to relying on government or other publicly available data.

The Mercer Business Travel Allowance reports provide data to determine daily allowances for international business travellers to over 330 destinations and four key regions: Africa and the Middle East, the Americas, Asia-Pacific, and Europe. The reports contain information on actual hotel and meal rates plus miscellaneous expenses at three budget levels: high, medium, and low.

The reports help:

- Facilitate fair and efficient business travel costs.
- Provide reasonable expenditure caps.
- Estimate budgets more accurately.
- Control costs.

The reports provide cost data in the destination currency and the home currency, or in any other currencies needed. Reports can be purchased individually or through an annual subscription. Subscribers benefit from access to the data for all destinations with quarterly updates.

EXPATRIATE CONSULTING SERVICES

International assignments are part of a process to create change, improve understanding, and develop the global presence that is needed in the current competitive business climate. Expatriation is synonymous with new business opportunities, expansion, and growth. In order to help you manage expatriate assignments successfully in a highly competitive and cost-conscious business environment, Mercer consultants are available to support you with the services described below.

EXPATRIATE MANAGEMENT POLICIES

Whether your company is creating its first international assignments policy or reviewing its strategy to adapt to new business dynamics, Mercer can offer a complete consultancy service to assist you in building and managing your expatriation policies.

First, Mercer clarifies the purpose of the expatriation programme within your company and determines whether it is presently fulfilling that purpose. Then, Mercer identifies how you can achieve strategic objectives, specifically assisting with any of the following areas:

- Analysing and defining different types of international assignments.
- Company practice benchmarks.
- Compensation approaches.
- Expatriation allowances.
- Retirement.
- Health care.
- Localisation approaches.
- Spouse support programmes.
- Cost analysis.
- Policy implementation and communication.

EXPATRIATE COMPENSATION SERVICES

Mercer provides a full range of information products and services to help you manage your human resources globally. Compensation services aid you in designing competitive, equitable, and cost-effective expatriate packages.

Our consultants can help you determine whether a single policy tier or multiple policy tiers suit your expatriate programme best, by assessing the variety and needs of your mobility employees.

GLOBAL MOBILITY POLICY BENCHMARKING

Mercer’s new benchmarking options can help you optimise your expatriate policies. Using the unparalleled data from the Worldwide Survey of International Assignment Policies and Practices, the Alternative International Assignments Policies and Practices Survey, and our other surveys, will provide you with custom benchmarking consulting and assess your mobility programme using an array of precise policy benchmarking tools. You will then receive a report that shows gaps in your policy that could be costing you money or valuable competitive advantages.

We offer two benchmarking options for your typical long-term assignment policies: the Desktop Review and the more in-depth Comprehensive Review. In addition, we have data to help benchmark alternatives to the traditional international assignments: Local Plus, developmental, short-term, commuter, rotator, intra-regional, and global nomad.

WORLDWIDE SURVEY OF INTERNATIONAL ASSIGNMENT POLICIES AND PRACTICES

Finding the right talent for your expatriate assignments is not easy. The Worldwide Survey of International Assignment Policies and Practices (WIAPP) will help you uncover current trends in international assignment programme management and evaluate your policy competitiveness and market positioning for specific assignment types so your expatriate programme can be more effective. The valuable data in this, Mercer’s most encompassing global mobility survey, will help you develop, modify, and customise your expatriate packages. You can still participate:

- The largest survey participant base in the industry.
- Participants receive a FREE regional question-by-question analysis report.
- The full Global Report is available to participants only.
